DEATH LIST IN STORM IS OVER 70

CORPUS CHRISTI STRUG- GLES THROUGH OIL COATED WATER TO GET RELIEF.

OVER 3,000 ARE MADE HOMELESS

Gale Brings Death To Unknown Number; Damages Run Into Millions.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Corpus Christi, Texas, Sept. 15.—The main streets and relief trains headed this way from many parts of the state. Corpus Christi today began slowly emerging from the wreckage caused by the gulf hurricane which struck the city early Sunday morning.

Babies Born During Storm.

Corpus Christi, Sept. 16.—Three women who sought safety in the federal building Sunday night from the storm, became mothers while the hurricane was at its height. They were attended by physicians who were among the handfuls of people who sought safety there. Reports today were that all were doing nicely.

by the gulf hurricane which struck the city early Sunday morning.

Mounting rapidly as reports from here of isolated sections began trickling in, the death list as the result of the tropical hurricane which Sunday night struck the Gulf coast, was variously placed at from 70 to 150 to 200.

It was impossible this morning to get anything like an accurate estimate of the fatalities. In the city proper the death list was placed at between 15 and 25, but that was regarded by many as far too conservative.

One report in circulation today, but hardly reliable, was that 120 babies, most of them recognized as residents of Corpus Christi, had been taken from a rest near Portland, Ore. Bay, upon which Corpus Christi is situated.

3,000 are homeless. More than 3,000 persons were made homeless by the storm and the problem of taking care of them was one officials faced when they began the day.

Considerable anxiety was expressed regarding the fate of the launch Wando, with 15 persons on board, which left Corpus Christi Saturday afternoon on a fishing excursion. Since the storm no word has been received from the party, which included four women.

Hundreds of civilians were to be seen yesterday wading in water, assisting refugees to leave houses and hotels.

Oil Coats Water. One of the most disagreeable conditions connected with the storm was that the water which poured on the city became coated with crude oil from wrecked oil tanks, tanks and storage tanks along the bay front. Women and children suffered especially when the oil filled basements. Many persons taken from the wreckage were black from the greasy fluid. Although thousands of dollars' worth of merchandise was strewn about the business district, few or no attempts at looting were to be seen.

As soon as the water began receding storekeepers appeared and started clearing away the wreckage from their places. Volunteers this morning began the work of clearing the streets of wreckage.

A military train from Brownsville bringing five thousand rations and one thousand beds arrived early today.

Approximately 175 refugees have been rescued at Odessa, about 30 miles west of here, according to a telephone message received here, at the Odessa Center of Relief.

Sinton, Texas, Sept. 16.—Sinton is acting as the relief headquarters for the entire Texas coast. Bodies are being held in the territory where already 70 bodies, mutilated beyond recognition, have been found.

The count so far shows there were 10 found at Westport, 22 at White Point, 4 or 5 below Odessa, and a few at Portland.

Among the dead are Mrs. Long-said, Corpus Christi; Miss Brock, 12 years old, Corpus Christi.

Undertakers from Houston arrived early today. Bodies are being held in the territory where already 70 bodies, mutilated beyond recognition, have been found.

At the Reiss Coal company and the Pittsburgh and Ashland coal companies, the men were taken away from their jobs and the strike will be called again and that all men in this port will walk out.

U. S. ASKS JAPANESE TO FIX TIME TO GIVE KIAO CHAU TO CHINA

Honolulu, Sept. 16.—The United States has asked the Japanese government to fix a definite date for the return of Kiao Chau to China, according to the Nippon Jiji, a Japanese daily newspaper. The cable added that the Japanese government had not answered the communication.

Officials Silent

Washington, Sept. 16.—Officials here in the absence of President Wilson and Secretary Lansing will not comment on the report that the United States has asked Japan to set a definite date for the return of Kiao Chau to China.

The general impression in official circles is that the report is well founded.

Japan's answer to such a request by the government would have an important bearing on the senate's consideration of the peace treaty as one of the objections to it on which opposition is being centered in the Shantung provision.

Administration supporters of the treaty feel that a definite announcement by Japan setting a date for the return of Kiao Chau would go far to remove that point.

Various Japanese officials have stated that Kiao Chau would be returned but a time never was set.

COMMISSIONER MOORE PREDICTS CHANGE IN PRESENT SYSTEM.

ACTION DEPENDS ON FUTURE PRICES

Tremendous Increase In Concrete Construction Causes Competition To Become Less.

Rock county will be in the concrete building business by next spring, unless contractors' bids are lower, is the prediction made by Charles E. Moore, county highway commissioner. Mr. Moore was in conference today with Supervisor E. D. McGowan, chairman of the finance committee of the county board, in regard to the possibility of selling sufficient bonds of the $1,600,000 bond issue to cover the cost of the new road building machinery, including concrete mixers to carry out the 40-mile program authorized for next year. This program, the largest one ever launched by any county in the country for a one-year job, comprises the construction of the following regular and proposed trunk line routes:

No. 10.—Janesville to Edgerton (12 miles)
No. 61.—Beloit to Clinton (10 miles)
Janesville to Evansville (18 miles)

The state highway commission has agreed to furnish government trucks for the transportation of materials, relieving the county of one of the heaviest burdens of entering the highway construction business. The proposition is identical to the same as that presented by Mr. Moore to the commission in the spring. It was turned down at that time as being impractical, but upon reconsideration for several months the proposal was accepted. Word of the acceptance was received yesterday by Mr. Moore.

Gravel Problem Is Difficult. It is possible that the idea may never be carried out as contractors' bids may be too high. The result of their acceptance, but according to Mr. Moore the tremendous increase in the amount of concrete road building in the county, the gravel needed for next year is necessarily going to make for less competition. Contractors taking the job, where gravel is being used, will be the easiest. This will be one of the difficulties of the Rock county job, he predicts.

The gravel pits in the Janesville Sand & Gravel Co. has been contracted for by the Sanborn Tractor Co. making it necessary to scatter gravel in small quantities scattered throughout the county.

5-Mile Concrete Stretch Open. Motorists are now enjoying the first time for a long time a long stretch of concrete road in Rock county. The No. 10 Beloit-Town Line road having been practically completed, being completed as yet, the highway, declaring it to be the equal of any other which they have ever driven. It is 18 feet in width, having ample room for cars to pass each other. The concrete begins at Town Line and extends for five miles, the last one-third mile into Beloit, being completed as yet, necessitating a detour to reach that city. In reaching the beginning of the stretch at Town Line the making of the "prairie road" through South Janesville, going as far as the 8 1/2 mile post on this road, then the grading for the construction of the remaining part of the concrete road from Town Line to Janesville is being pushed rapidly by the Cheney company of Minneapolis and prevents travel over that portion.

Finish Beloit Road in Spring. A difficulty in securing labor and materials has made it impossible to complete the Beloit-Janesville road this year before opening time, but the greater portion of it will have been laid by that time, making it possible to finish up the entire job early in the spring. Mr. Moore said that the road conditions been anywhere near normal this summer the whole road could have been laid this year, but too many difficulties were pushed up to the first place, commencement of work was hopelessly delayed when the contract went begging for bidders.

When the contract was finally let other circumstances arose, making it impossible to carry out the year's program. However, we are satisfied that the contract was a good start and feel sure that next year's work will be finished as planned.

A CHANCE TO LIVE

THE REAL HOME.

"It's a wonderful place. Bernie's school in it, and a library, a gym and a theater and everything. There's room for us. They'll welcome us. We'll find our niche there."

"And by and by, dear, when the burden of making a living has lightened a little—remember, dear, you're not alone, you're with me, Bernie—we shall have time to think, and to rouse others to think, and to live, and to show Morris and Sarah Rafetzky and about a dozen more like them how to climb up the stairs."

"You know, I've had a sneaking idea for months that when you were very, very rich, so that you were almost disgusting, we'd start a settlement house of our own, only a little nicer than the one I was in when I was a poor, skinny factory girl."

"But now I've changed my mind. We don't do that. We'll add our weight to something already well and wisely started. We'll work and study, and when we've learned more, and the cause has soaked in good, and we've learned how to do social agencies and things, we'll make the feeling of human beings OUR work, Bernie."

"And maybe some day I'll have a vote, and you and I and Sarah and Morris Rafetzky, and all the children that are old enough to vote will troop off together and cast our ballots for men who will help build a better world for our commonwealth and brotherhood of democracy. And you can run for office, Bernie. And be an alderman or something that won't take us away from New York. Are you with me, Bernie? Or do I sound too much like a soapbox orator?"

Bernie's answer was wordless. He rather liked soapbox orators. A short time after this, on the 11th of November, or he exact, at 7:30 in the morning, Morris Rafetzky pointed on the Carroll's door and poked his newspaper wildly at Bernie.

"Look at it!" he cried, his thin face flushed with excitement, his hair all wild, "the women have the vote—the women have the vote! An the Party pulled—my God, look at the figures here for New York, almost a hundred thousand, including—"

He broke off because Annie had seized his paper and was staring at the headlines concerning the suffrage vote.

"I don't believe it," she kept saying over and over until Bernie grabbed for his paper at the pen and they all talked and laughed and looked and trumped up and down and jumped the kids about and looked at some more and talked and shook hands and couldn't believe it, but did, any how—and rejoiced.

All that day the feeling kept growing in Annie's heart that she had found herself, that she had now both the knowledge of what she wanted to do, and the power to do it. And perhaps that is the best feeling of which the human heart is capable.

As in all great joys, she thought of her father and his inextinguishable hope and belief in the ultimate good. Through happy tears she looked out over the dreary, scant lot, dreary now no longer, for its very cane and cap wheels bleaching in the sun seemed only too picturesque the debris of her old doubts and fears that were going to be cleaned away and the space built upon, just as some day that lot would be built upon. Maybe clean, whole, some homes for workers would be there, with plots for children to play in, kept pure with air and sunshine. Now at last she had in her hand the weapon to help win it. And in her brain the consciousness that should awaken the Sarah Rafetzky and all her drudging sisterhood.

Life had been sad. But now it was good. Her father's words came back: "Keep your own promises, Nance, then at least you can expect promises to be kept to you."

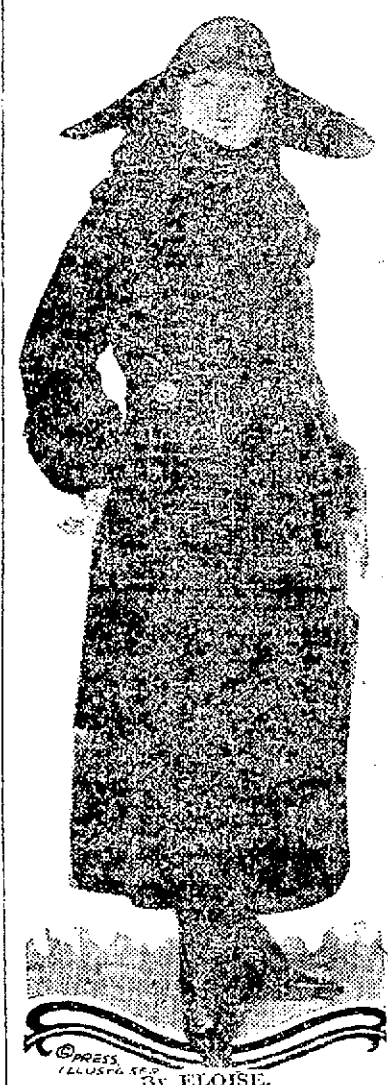

Life was keeping its promise after all.

Bernie never was president of his tobacco company. But he never wanted to be. He got well to the point where "the burden of making a living was lightened," and there was time for love and play and companionship with his mate and his children and "Aunt Maggie," who had the sunniest room in their decent little flat.

Some one has said that the success element in marriage is having a mutual interest outside of marriage. The Carrolls had it, and it was focused in the "House."

THE END.

CHECKED PLUSH IS NOVELTY MATERIAL FOR WINTER COATS

Checked plush is novelty material for winter coats.

Women do not esteem the cape as a motor wrap nearly so much as they do the long, warm loose coat. When a cape accompanies a tight fitting frock it does very well for comfort, but otherwise does not cling closely enough to the figure for the needed warmth.

Nothing has given quite the joy that the leather coat inspires. Many of the newer models reveal part of the body and another and some show khaki cloth with leather trimmings. When the coat is entirely of leather, as many women prefer, there is a remarkable thing as a rule, a heavy cavalry or warm blanket.

A new fabric, however, has appeared recently which will vie with leather as a novelty material for utility and motor coats. It is a sort of checked plush which attracted much attention at the New York fashion show. This smart winter coat is fashioned of the new material. It is built on the familiar straight lines with a trimming section cut on the bias and applied to the skirt portion in a most effective fashion. Fur collar and cuffs add a touch of comfort and trimmings.

Just as the affable agent unloads 40 lightning rods on the poor house-keeper who needs perhaps one, so do unmercenary exploiters of alleged health-promoting devices and their wares among a health-ignorant public. Ignorance gives birth to credulity, and our public schools unavailingly turn out a new supply of health-ignorant individuals who sooner or later invest in lightning rods.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Emphasizing the Operation. Please tell me what can be done for adhesions caused by an appendectomy operation. Can adhesions cause sudden death? Do they cause nervousness? Does a person have to undergo an operation for adhesions? Miss G. E. J.

Answer—Adhesions are produced when two opposing surfaces adhere as a result of inflammatory exudate and as a result of operation. They do not cause sudden death or nervousness. Can they cause trouble? No trouble at all.

Tongue Tied Baby. Are speech and tongue always necessary, and if so, is it serious and a permanent defect of operation? At what age should it be done? Will the baby never learn to speak properly if it is not done? Miss C. E. J.

ANSWER—Very rarely the tongue and throat are involved in a really short time it interferes with nursing, drinking, and in that case it may be removed by operation. There is no ground for the superstition that such a condition ever causes a child's speech. That idea is mere ashwite nonsense.

THE CHILD THAT IS TO BE

The government publishes a book which tells the mother what she should do if her child is to begin the battle of life with all its facilities perfect—if it is to come into the world a normal, wholesome, healthy infant.

With infinite care it has made investigation and compared the facts for the expectant mother as to what to eat, what to drink, the amount of exercise and the nature of exercise to take, the sort of clothing to wear—how to meet any emergency which her condition may create.

It tells her to get ready for the coming of the baby, the clothing appropriate, that its needs may be best met, the equipment that is required for it after it comes, how to choose a nurse, a doctor, a hospital. Of all the studies that it makes for its citizens there is none that the government is more anxious to get to the people than its instructions to those who are to be mothers. The most important product of the nation is the forthcoming generation. The first vital task in making it is to get it properly brought into the world. This book tells how to help.

WITH THE WOMEN OF TODAY

Women will be interested to know the average in achievements, she was once state tennis champion.

Ann Martin, it may be remembered, was the first woman to run for the upper house. In 1915 she announced her candidacy for the term of the late Senator Francis G. Newlands. In 1918 she made the race without the nomination of either of the major parties, but this time she hopes to run on a straight Republican platform.

Miss Martin has long been prominent in the cause in connection with the National Woman's party, formerly the Congressional Union, in which she was vice chairman of the Nevada chapter. She was a leader in the fight for national enfranchisement of women. Before entering the Nevada campaign she was chairman of the Nevada suffrage campaign and won in the face of the opposition of both political machines.

The daughter of William O'Hara Martin, for many years a senator in the Nevada legislature, she was graduated from Nevada university and received degrees from Leland Stanford and Cambridge college in England. She later toured European countries to study governmental problems. She has the distinction of being the first woman member of the Nevada educational survey commission. And just to show that despite her wonderful mind and training she is still a typical American woman, she is a devoted mother of three boys and two girls.

Her work in the cause of the poor has been a herculean effort. Death would be a blessed relief to many such, but death is not to be the slackers. The labor fight on.

NO SUPPORT. Thompson Williams made a very lame speech on the subject under discussion. Johnson—No wonder, when his argument hadn't a leg to stand on!

bachelor of arts from Vassar, master of arts from Yale, and a philosophy from the University of Chicago and doctor of laws both from Mount Holyoke and Western Reserve.

Miss Martin is chief nurse of the American expeditionary forces in France, has been honored by General Pershing for "exceptionally meritorious and conspicuous service."

London.—A wonderful case of restored memory following hypnosis was related by Dr. William Brown at the joint conference of the Aristotelian society, the British Psychological society and the Mind association.

The case was that of a gunner knocked out at Ypres, two years ago. Since the incident the gunner has suffered from loss of memory and a continual quivering of the right arm. Hypnotized by the physician, the gunner in vivid language described the battle in which he was wounded and when he came to the trembling of the arm had stopped completely.

The bird was buried beneath two tall trees just outside the entrance to the royal pavilion, and a wooden monument erected, bearing the following epitaph:

"In loving memory of Billy Brown. He has closed his book. He would not learn his lessons. His neck was wrong. To stop his tongue. And other indignities."

HEALTH TALKS

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO DR. BRADY, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

LIGHTNING RODS

In driving through the country, I have often observed certain houses highly decorated with glistening rods and attachments intended to conduct lightning harmlessly down into the ground. And when I see such a house fairly groaning under its equipment I feel morally certain, indeed I sometimes feel positively certain, that the owner is a health-ignorant individual. The average medical journal proves that the doctors themselves must be a rather glibble lot. Indeed, shrewd, without promoters and fake salesmen in general recognize that, for a doctor's mail is generally burdened with come-on literature.

Just as the affable agent unloads 40 lightning rods on the poor house-keeper who needs perhaps one, so do unmercenary exploiters of alleged health-promoting devices and their wares among a health-ignorant public. Ignorance gives birth to credulity, and our public schools unavailingly turn out a new supply of health-ignorant individuals who sooner or later invest in lightning rods.

RUTH CAMERON

THE STORY OF

A story of heroism during the influenza epidemic, too fine to be kept to myself, came to me the other day. It was told by one of my college friends whose father-in-law is an elderly doctor.

"This man's wife had the influenza badly and he was taking care of her besides attending to his practice. His daughter, who lived in a town a few miles away, was also ill, and her husband was looking after her and attending to his business. One fine day the daughter sent word to her father that her husband had been suddenly stricken with the disease, fainting away at his place of business. She asked her father to get someone to help them."

Three Sick People; a Baby, the Housework and His Exile.

He could get no one and so he brought the sick husband and wife and their two-year-old baby to his own home. For three days, alone and unaided, he looked after these three sick people, did what housework was done, took care of the two-year-old child and attended to his practice—which was, of course, enormous.

At the end of that time he managed to get a neighbor to take the place of the doctor, but on carrying for the three patients and attending to his practice. Incidentally, the son-in-law was so sick as to be delirious.

ALBANY BOOKED TO PLAY JAMES HERE WEEK FROM SUNDAY

Once more the Lawrence James will clash with Albany. The game was booked yesterday to be played at the fair grounds here a week from Sunday. Although twice defeated by the Albany in score on 2-0 and 1-0, the Albany continue to insist that they can win a game maintaining that both of James' victories were flukes. Both the contests were real battles, probably the most exciting the James have played in this year so the coming test should be a drawing card. Albany will pit his regular line-up against the villagers. This will include such men as Aaron, Bransen, Keith, Oelger, Gorman, Miller and possibly Biglow. Eddie Brodie will pitch.

Brodie will leave for the James in the last Shore League game of the season with the Albany. Albany's catcher will be secured to replace Burkholder who is charged with the game after Sunday. Outside the game change the line-up will be the same as that used in the Green City. Prospects for closing the league and the large crowd will be out to see the rejuvenated team for the first time in five weeks is the prediction of the Jerry manager.

Dizzy-- Wrecked His Automobile

"Two years ago my stomach trouble got so bad that I was almost constantly filled with gas. This made me very dizzy at times. Last Fall I was almost overcome by one of these dizzy spells while driving my car, and ran into a telephone pole, badly wrecking the car. A friend recommended Mr. W. W. Kennedy for my trouble. Since taking the first dose I have steadily improved, and feel better now than ever in my life." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. The dose will convince or money refunded.

BRINGING UP FATHER

Willard Gives Up Fighting To Raise Potatoes

Jess Willard, former heavyweight title champion, may be short of his padded glove title, but that does not deter him from seeking another crown. The new crown sought by the former champ is that of "Champion Spud Raiser" of America, and Jack Dempsey is not likely to hurt any challenges his way.

Willard announces he is going to devote his time and attention to the raising of potatoes. He intends to reclaim the famous Thompson ranch, near Tonika, so that potatoes can be raised in a highly scientific manner. He expects to harvest several crops of spuds this fall, although he complains that the lack of labor is going to make the job a particularly difficult one. He may be obliged to import Japanese labor from California.

Willard declares he is forever through with the fight game. He says he has even ceased to keep up his interest in the sport since he was defeated by Jack Dempsey, and will in the future devote his entire time to the raising of potatoes.

Asked why he selected potatoes as his stellar crop, Jess declared it was because there is always a market for good potatoes and they are easy to raise when the work is done in a scientific manner. His big ranch is equipped with irrigation appliances and this he thinks is one of the most important features of potato raising. Willard investigated the farm silencing potatoes as his major crop. He points to the fact that there is plenty of wheat raised in this country today, but for years and even at the present time there has been a lamentable shortage of potatoes. Willard unbosomed himself of his sentiments regarding food profiteers and left behind with the impression that he might be coaxed back into the squared circle. It is opponent happened to be a profiteer who was making a fortune out of holding foodstuffs for a big price.

Willard is thinking seriously of taking a course in agriculture at the Kansas State university. Contrary to general belief he does regular farm work himself, as well as acting as overseer.

The Daily Novelette

QUITE ABSURD—QUITE.

"Maybe it's none of my business, Bandanna," remarked Barbadoes Strait, "but a great, big, black cat has been walking on my trail for the last three days. Now, I think it's bad luck to have."

"How ridiculous!" exclaimed Bandanna, who was frocked prettily in a drapery of Belgian-blocked tinsel. "Ridiculous! What do you mean? I'm not superstitious or anything like that but, well, once when I was three years old, I remember a big black cat following me for squares and to next day I broke my bottle and had to drink my milk from a piece of hose."

"How silly!" remarked Bandanna, shrilly.

"Silly my eye!" exclaimed Barbadoes, angrily. "And just to show you how silly it is, that time I lost your diamond earring. I had been followed by a black cat for several weeks."

"Ridiculous-silly-foolish!" laughed Bandanna.

"The same, I don't like it, I tell you. That cat has come closer and closer and sniffs uncleanly. I say, 'Till he's outside the door waiting for me now.'"

"I wonder now," began Band
